Winemaker Notes:

2020 was a special year. Flowering, beset by light rains and driving winds, resulted in a fruit set that was about 30% off of average. The end of August finished with warm rain and humidity that drove disease pressure. The beginning of September brought the biggest fires Oregon had seen up to that point.

We chose to declassify the three vineyards that we harvested and bottled them together in this very representative pinot noir. This wine sings at a table laden with brisket, Kansas City barbeque, or grilled eggplant with tahini and labneh
