	Winemaker Notes:

At this stage in their evolution, the '22s are reminding us of a “friendlier” version of the 2010s—exciting since that is one of our all-time favorite vintages.

This year's J is classically dense — especially so at this very youthful point. It's layered with fresh and dried flowers scattered in an ancient cabinet. Ripe berries play against clean compost leaves and the tannins are remarkably fine-grained and persistent.
